

KAPPA GAMMA DANCE ATTRACTS 200

Mexican Fiesta Novel Motif

The members of Kappa Gamma entertained the student body and faculty of Gallaudet College with a dance held in the Gym on Saturday evening, May 12th. The decorations were carried out to exemplify a Mexican fiesta. A six-piece orchestra from the University of Maryland furnished music for the occasion. Those in the receiving line were Mr. and Mrs. Louis Hooper, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Smith, Miss Lillian Aho, and Mr. George Brown, Grand Rajah of Kappa Gamma Fraternity.

The main room of the gym was made to represent the interior of a mission courtyard. Stucco walls surrounded the entire room. The entrance was a replica of an old Spanish mission with the bells and religious symbols true to the old churches of New Spain. A picture of mural-like proportions depicting a scene of the mountain ranges of Mexico and an old city had been painted by John Leicht. The picture covered the entire end of the gym. The work was exceedingly well done. Huge gayly patterned Mexican mantillas and serapes hung from the ceiling and from the mission walls. Mexican pottery adorned almost every available spot. The lights were especially decorative behind huge upturned sombreros. They were one of the most picturesque parts of the decorations. A small patio occupied the center of the room. Ferns and palms completed the decorations. Refreshments were served around the swimming pool in the room under the dance floor. A huge black and yellow shawl with the letters K. G. hung under the light in the swimming pool, reflecting the letters on the cool waters. During the evening two young ladies, Misses Curtis and Marshall, under the direction of Miss Remsberg gave a Mexican dance.

The credit and much of the success of the party belong to the Chairman of the Committee, Heimo Antila, and his assistants Kenneth Burdett, and Earl Norton. Mrs. Hooper, instructor in Kendall School, who has helped the boys

LATE DR. LONG'S PROPOSED ANTHOLOGY TO BE COMPLETED

At the request of Mrs. Harry B. Shibley of Van Buren, Ark.,—a request passed on by the late Dr. J. Schuyler Long—John H. McFarlane, '07, will take up the work of preparing the proposed anthology of poems by the deaf in collaboration with Mrs. Shibley. He will begin this work at the close of the present school year. He will appreciate it if any of the alumni having poems to submit for inclusion in the anthology will send them to the address: J. H. McFarlane, P. O. Box 168, Talladega, Ala.

SIX SWASHBUCKLING SAILORS SWAMPED SIGNAL S.O.S.

Bay Fishermen Rescue Campers from Icy Waters

It was a memorable day for the boys at Camp Roosevelt when six bedraggled and shivering would-be sailors, namely Stephen Koziar, Heimo Antila, Ken Burdett, Olaf Tollefson, Lester Stanfill, and Felix Kowalewski, limped into camp and related the following story:

A group of fishermen were hauling in their nets some two miles from shore, and the boys decided to go out to them in the sailboat and watch them at work. The would-be Admirals made good headway and were soon within hailing distance of the fishermen. Proud of their accomplishment in coming out so far, the lubbers started gawking at the fishermen—looking for some salute. But they forgot all about their own boat, and that the wind was continually shifting. A sudden gust of wind swung the boom around, and the boys who were acting as ballast failed to shift in time. The result was that they found themselves struggling in the icy water of the bay, and the boat was still afloat—but upside down. Kozy could not swim, but was lucky enough to have donned a life preserver just before the boat turned over. Burdy and Kow were tangled up in the canvas sail and trapped under the water for a while, but finally broke loose and came up to the surface. Tolly and Antila were busy holding up the sputtering Kozy. Stan was trying to keep the boat on an even keel while all were clinging to it. The fishermen were working like the devil to disengage one of their boats from the nets, and in their hurry to do so, the motor of the boat broke down. They had to spend an extra ten minutes in disengaging a second boat. The poor lubbers clinging to the hull of the sailboat were now quite blue with cold from the freezing water, and were made more miserable by rough waters that were continually breaking over them. They were finally picked up safely and dumped into a mess of cold, flopping herrings. The Camp Roosevelt pier had been washed away by winter storms, so the boat docked at Plum Point, from where the boys had to walk home some three miles.

MISSING CO-ED FOUND

The Dramatic Club will present its second play of the year on May 25. Admission prices have been announced as 25 cents, and an excellent play is promised to all.

KEY ELIGIBLES ANNOUNCED

At a recent meeting of the Board several members were made eligible to purchase a BUFF AND BLUE Key. The Board recently adopted an official key for those serving on the Board for over one year. The new eligibles are E. Ladner, R. Greenmum, D. A. Davidowitz, F. Kowalewski, V. Pristera, and R. Yeager. Eight others, including five Seniors, were previously eligible.

BURNETT BREAKS MILE RECORD

Blues Beat Maryland Freshmen, 66-51 in Track Meet

The Blue tracksters won for the first time this year by trouncing the U. of Maryland Freshmen, 66-51, on May 5.

Joe Burnett, borrowing a pair of spiked shoes from a teammate, romped around the oval in 4:42.4 to better the College record that has stood for ten years. Capt. Travis had a field day, scoring 16 points, followed by Ladner with 12. Guckeyson of the Freshmen took three first places in the weights and Headley ran the half mile in the sensational time of 1 min. 59.8 seconds.

SPRING FASHION SHOW BIG SUCCESS

Five Hundred Jam Chapel Hall to See Spring Offerings

The Annual Fashion Show was held in the College Chapel on Friday afternoon, May 10th. About five hundred people were present for the occasion, the largest number ever to attend a Fashion Show at the college. After the show the guests were served tea on the chapel terrace by the members of Miss Remsberg's food classes.

The credit for the success of the very delightful entertainment belongs in a large share to Prof. Hazel Craig, who started the fashion show some years ago, and to Prof. Donald Kline, who assisted in the stage arrangements.

In conjunction with the Fashion Show the pupils of Kendall School gave an exhibit. A demonstration of first year speech-reading and speech and of third year language was given besides a drill showing rhythm work. Prof. Sam B. Craig is principal of Kendall School and Miss Helen Fay is supervising teacher.

The first part of the Fashion Show was a scene in Pierre's Studio of Costume Design with Fashion Influences shown in silhouette. These included Egyptian, Classic, Medieval, Renaissance, Elizabethan, Cavalier, Marie Antoinette, Civil War, Gay 90's, World War, Flapper Age, Modern Dress, and the Seven Ages of Woman (shown in tableaux). The second part takes place in Pierre's Salon in which dresses for the boudoir, for the home or

COLLEGE REACHES SEVENTIETH YEAR

Comments in a Retrospective Way by Dr. Percival Hall

[Believing a brief retrospect in connection with the work of the college may be of interest to the readers of the new journalistic venture of THE BUFF AND BLUE this sketch has been prepared.]

It was just a little over seventy years ago that Abraham Lincoln signed an Act empowering the Directors of the Columbia Institution for the Deaf to grant collegiate degrees. Lincoln's signature was attached to this bill on April 8, 1864, and the college department was inaugurated in June with Dr. Edward Miner Gallaudet as President. In September, 1864, the work of instruction began with Dr. Gallaudet and another professor as teachers and seven students from various parts of the country. From that time until the present, the growth of the college has been marked and steady until at the beginning of the present year there were on the rolls one hundred thirty-eight young men and women from thirty-three states, six normal students, two post graduates (deaf students), and several others on leave of absence.

Congress showed its interest in the new venture by appropriating money for buildings and by setting up free scholarships for students from the various states and territories which cover board and tuition. The number of these scholarships has been increased until one hundred twenty-five are available.

The college curriculum at first was naturally arranged along classical lines and covered six years in all because of the need for bridging the gap caused by the lack of full high school courses in many of our schools for the deaf. The courses in the curricula of the college and of the schools have been changed gradually until only one Preparatory year is necessary. It is hoped

An Experiment

With this issue of THE BUFF AND BLUE we are making an experiment. The proposition before the Board of Managers of the magazine is to make a somewhat radical change in the publication. The proposition would alter the magazine from a hybrid between a news periodical and a literary magazine to a purely literary publication devoid of advertisements, published three times a year, and would add a second form, a newspaper such as this issue, containing advertisements, to be published every two weeks except probably during vacation and examination periods. The Senior Annual would count as a fourth literary publication.

This plan is by no means new. Our minutes show that it was proposed a number of times and with minor variations during past years, but concrete steps toward realization never proceeded far enough to actually see an issue take form. The last time it was proposed it died a more or less natural death, from which a revival was prevented a year or two later by a bank failure in which we found a large part of our funds tied up. Criticisms and suggestions, such as we have received since, have tended to put forward the plan now under consideration.

The reasons for this change are many, but could be roughly organized as has been done below, so that the reader may judge for himself as to its advisability. For convenience, numbered paragraphs have been used.

1. The present monthly combined literary and news character of the magazine has outlived its usefulness. Most alumni who subscribe do so only out of loyalty and not because they believe they are getting their money's worth. For news of the College happenings, they need only turn to the College column in one of the weekly papers of the deaf—which also has other attractions. For stories and poetry, there are uncounted varieties of magazines and even newspapers to satisfy this need at any news or magazine stand for a few cents. A newspaper every two weeks would have a wider range of interest than even a weekly news column would find possible. The stories and poems of students would be included in the same subscription price, published entirely by themselves three times a year in magazine form.

2. Under the hereto used plan we are able to publish editorials, locals and alumni news only once each month. This means that most of this material is out of date and unfit to be classified as "news" by the time it reaches the subscribers. The new plan calls for a newspaper issued every two weeks, except at such vacation or examination periods when, in the Board's opinion, it should be found inadvisable. This means that news could be furnished the readers while it is much fresher, and the editorial and other departments would be far more timely than has ever before been the case.

3. The establishment of a newspaper should in no way interfere with the standards of the literary magazine. It would always be more of an honor to "make" the pages of this magazine with a contribution than those of the newspaper. As it would appear only three times a year, the purely literary magazine should be able to keep up if not even improve upon the old standards in that time. It would be more open to alumni contributions. Managed and financed by the same Board as the newspaper, there would be no damaging competition between the two. A separate group within the Board would be assigned to this magazine form, and if it proved necessary a separate editor would be chosen to manage it properly.

4. The proposed change would, as we have said, require an enlarged Board, but the so-called literary standards of the magazine form would not, of course, apply as rigidly in a more informal newspaper. Consequently students with the ability to write informal articles and items would not be confronted and probably frightened so much by the need to conform to magazine requirements. A corps of reporters with regular assignments would leave those with the inclination to write for the literary magazine free to do so. The practice and confidence obtained through writing for the newspaper should in many cases be an aid in writing for the magazine; thus much hidden talent could be brought to light.

5. The additional cost of the proposed plan would be made up mostly by increased advertisements. Certain kinds of advertisements cannot be obtained for a literary magazine, but are available and pay well to a newspaper. Advertisements which are to appear in print twice as often and in a more noticeable arrangement should be easier to obtain. A small increase in advertising under the present rates would pay for the change.

(It should be specially noted that the advertising matter in this issue was lifted almost bodily from the literary magazine. If under the proposed system it should be found necessary, advertising space would be cut down with relation to the rates in order to provide room for more advertising.)

6. This is the only college that we know of which combines campus news and literary material in magazine form. Most colleges have newspapers, either daily or weekly, and literary material of the students is published in a separate magazine form, usually appearing quarterly. There should be little fear about a shortage of material for the newspaper; we found ourselves with enough for at least four issues such as this one.

7. The burden on the Alumni Editor of having to send in copy twice as often under the new arrangement could be eased very much by providing for sectional correspondents from among the alumni to help with material for that column.

8. Setting up and printing newspaper forms should prove of much more practical value than the present form to many who intend to follow the printing trade upon leaving college.

9. At the last alumni reunion the need of publicity for the College and its ideals was stressed. The result was a set of motion-picture films of student activities and opportunities; it is still going the rounds of the state schools. Would not a more frequently appearing publication with a somewhat increased circulation (which we secretly hope it might find) be of value in this publicity campaign?

We believe the points enumerated above are sufficient to explain our reasons for making this experiment. We are sending postal cards with return addresses to all subscribers and to some others who might be interested, soliciting opinions for and against the change as the case might be. Should the results of this survey favor the change, a one-year period will be set aside for further experiment. If this system should during that year prove practical, it will very probably become the permanent policy of THE BUFF AND BLUE.

Your cooperation is asked in this consensus of opinion on the matter. Please fill out and mail the postal card which should reach you at about the same time this issue does and it will be very much appreciated.—L. G.

ALUMNI NEWS

Roy J. Stewart

We have sent letters to some of the alumni scattered all over the country for news to put in this issue. Nearly all have sent in an item or two. A few have written back about as follows: "You're asking for news and there is not much here that is worth publishing. Things go on very much the same one day after another. The only thing some people talk about is the weather. Out here there have been no marriages, no births, and none of the alumni ever get put in jail."

'83. James C. Smith, son of Dr. James L. Smith, is Assistant Manager of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation in Chicago. This must be a source of satisfaction to our good friend and we congratulate the Doctor on the success his son is attaining.

'85. N. Field Morrow, the long lost, is living in San Francisco.

'87. Edward P. Cleary, a retired teacher of the Illinois School, is out in California and recently visited the Berkeley School. He told the pupils what they might expect after leaving school and advised them to get all they could out of school now while the chance was theirs so that they may be all the more able to cope with stern realities. This advice is equally as good for the undergraduates at Gallaudet.

'90. Stephen Shuey died at Newton, Sullivan county, Mo., Sunday, April 1. He was for several years a teacher in the Missouri School, but gave up teaching to engage in farming at a time when the farmer was the envy of many people. Of late, Fate was unkind to him, the farm did not prosper and he was ill with anemia for a year.

with their decorations for the past three years again assisted in a splendid manner. The faculty members assisting Mrs. Hooper were Miss Elizabeth Benson, Miss Ruth Remsberg, Mr. Donald Kline, and Mr. Powrie Doctor.

The members of Kappa Gamma Fraternity have established a reputation in the last few years for having perhaps the most brilliant of all college social functions. Over two hundred guests attended the dance Saturday evening with practically every faculty member present. The entire evening was one that will be remembered by the students of Gallaudet as one of the most colorful and romantic episodes in their college life.

'08. William Cooper passed away at his home, 2215 Otis St., N. E., Washington, D. C., on March 23. He leaves a wife and five children and to them we extend our deepest sympathy. A severe attack of influenza led to complications for which there was no help. Bill, as he was known to his friends, was one of Gallaudet's all-time baseball players. He only lacked a little more weight from advancing to the big leagues. He successfully coached winning Gallaudet baseball and basketball teams. In a later issue we shall pay a tribute to our friend.

Hon.-'09. Dwight F. Bangs, former Superintendent of the North Dakota School, died at his home in Faribault, Minn., April 16.

'12 and '14. Mr. and Mrs. Vernon S. Birek expect to motor from California to New York, their old home, this summer. Vernon lost his oldest brother, who died from an operation, some months ago.

'15 and ex-'33. Miss Lucille Jackson was married to Frederick A. Moore at Granville, Ohio, April 7, in a quiet home wedding. They are at home at Worthington, north of Columbus. Fred is employed as editor of the Ohio Chronicle.

'16. Rev. J. Stanley Light sailed for Halifax, Nova Scotia, on May 4 for the purpose of conducting services in St. Paul's Church there on May 20. He also expects to start a mission for the deaf in that vicinity.

'20. Walter P. Valiant is such an efficient linotype operator on the San Francisco Examiner that he is assigned all editorial copy, including heavy articles for the Sunday magazine section.

'20. Mrs. Eunice Post Peard, now living in Detroit, has been appointed by the Federal Emergency Relief to give special instruction to classes of adult deaf. She has forty-five enrolled and gives instruction in English, home economics, and business practice.

COLLEGE REACHES

that this year in time may be done away with as the schools put in full high school work. Most of the courses in mathematics, science, philosophy, history, English, and other languages have been retained in the college program. The principal changes have been made through the addition of practical studies in such subjects as printing, chemistry, agriculture, and advanced drawing for the young men; business practice, typing, library cataloging, domestic art, and domestic science for the young women.

At first the college was open only to young men. In 1887 young women first entered, and they now usually number about two-fifths of the student body. A Normal Class was established in 1891 for the purpose of furnishing a number of hearing teachers each year to the profession of instructing the deaf. Altogether the college has granted six hundred fifty baccalaureate degrees. The actual number of students enrolled has totalled three times this number. Nowhere else in the world have the deaf had such an opportunity for higher education, nor have they generally made, as far as we know, more advancement in every line of effort than has been possible in this country through higher education.

The chief occupation of the graduates has been teaching and taking charge of households as married partners. Nearly two hundred graduates of Gallaudet are scattered throughout the schools for the deaf in this country, doing splendid work in teaching and exerting a fine influence upon the growing generation now in school. That this occupation is still open is evidenced by the fact that within a little over a year a dozen graduates have been employed in the work of our schools. There are, however, many other professions which a recent survey shows have been taken up with success by the students of Gallaudet. Printing and publishing, the ministry, chemistry, clerical positions, and farming have attracted a large number. We have successful engineers, architects, florists, auditors, library workers, photographers, draftsmen, dentists, and valuable employees in thirty or forty various other professions or occupations. Many of the graduates of Gallaudet College have become leaders in the social and business organizations of the deaf.

deaf and the wisdom of providing for it in this country have been well demonstrated now over a period of more than two generations. It is expected that Gallaudet College may continue for many years to come to send forth into the ranks of our deaf citizens much of the leaven that leavens the whole group of independent, upright, and intelligent deaf citizens of the United States.

SPORTS

Lynchburg College dropped in on our field April 28 and ran off with a track meet, 81-45. McClure of the visitors set a Hotchkiss Field record in the discus with a toss of 125 feet 4 inches. Travis and Layne took two firsts apiece for the Blues.

In the District A. A. U. Wrestling tournament held recently, three of our wrestlers took second places. Kinlaw, 126; Tollefson, 175; and Culbertson, heavyweight, each received a silver medal symbolic of their success. Several other of our wrestlers made good showings in their preliminaries but failed to qualify for the finals.

BLUES EXTEND C. U.

Our scantily-clad, spiked runners invaded Brookland Field to settle the issue with Catholic University, Saturday, April 21, and when the smoke cleared away, they had rung up 50 digits to the future Bishops' 76. Although they lost two possible firsts through the illness of Captain Travis, the boys in blue scared the Red Shirts who had expected an easy afternoon. Norton, C. U., hard pressed by Gallaudet's ace hurdler, Leicht, tied the stadium record of 16 seconds and "Popeye" Karpowich, Norton's teammate sent the discus record into oblivion with a toss of 132 feet. Bob Layne, Gallaudet's newest speed marvel, easily won the century and furlong and nearly caught Brennan, C. U., in the quarter mile. However, his strenuous efforts told on him in the broad jump and he only took third. Burnett, our best two miler, entered the 880 and took third in a blanket finals.

Summary:
Mile—Won by Connor (C.U.); second, Burnett (G); third, Jozefoski (G). Time, 4:43.4 min.
100-yard Dash—Won by Layne (G); second, Lajouski (C. U.); third, Murphy (C. U.). Time, 10.1 sec.
440-yard Dash—Won by Brennan (C. U.); second, Layne (G); third, Jozefoski (G). Time, 53.4 sec.

Eskimos sleep in bear skin.
To keep them warm, I'm told.
Last night I slept in my bare skin
And caught a helluva cold
